

Cheat cheat cheat
One, two, three times to save
Without knowing that you

Dig dig dig
Your very own grave

Up up up
Your reputation and record seems to go
While lies pile higher and higher
And soon you've become the best of liars
You pretend not to know

And one day, it becomes such an ordinary thing
And again and again, you ignore your consciousness' calls and rings
For it's already been done and excuses come out
"Others are doing it, too. Better for me to just shut my mouth."

DISHONESTY
IRRESPONSIBILITY
CHEATING
UNFAIR
LYING LAZINESS

Down down down
You fall deeper into a pit
Pushing away the help around you
It's too ugly to admit

TRUST
HONESTY
RESPONSIBILITY
SINCERITY
INTEGRITY
FAIRNESS
RESPECT

Who would have known
That what started so small
Would be eating, eating away at your all
But now you learned: risks can be good but some are a mistake
No more settling for the foolish risks to take
Integrity is a life decision we constantly need to make

All around us, we see shortcuts
Are we fools for not taking them? No.
For we know that in life, there are no real shortcuts
Those mirages, something so temporary
For anything that goes against our integrity
Will only continue to build up and hurt both you and me